A Taylor morning is not so peaceful as it once was. The first bell and the scuffle of the feet of those who come to breakfast are drowned in the growl of engines, the sound of brick against brick, and the raucous interplay of the workmen's conversation.

The landscape breaks and loses its monotony. Yesterday there was a field—today there is a mound of earth swept across by the wind to pepper the campus with dust. Tomorrow the empty field and earth are gone, and there is a building; and the day after tomorrow there is another building and the day after the day after.....

The students' look up to see the rising buildings, to see the cranes wheel and drop their steel, to see the president walk about the campus with distinguished men in rich black coats, who nod and smile as the truckloads of stone and cement roll before them. The students smile and the president smiles.

Inside the new dorm, the smell of paint lasts a long while, and when it fades there is a little sadness. In the old dorms students speculate on how soon they will be smelling new paint. They wonder if there will be heat enough and showers enough, and having questioned they find a window opening southward where they can see the raw earth and new bricks of the campus and they are reassured.

The faculty all take jaunty steps
 ... New classrooms promise new students, new books, new colleagues;
 the coming year more majors, more minors, more forms, more classes, more classes taught yearly instead of every other year. Each professor thinks of his new office and wonders where to put the bookcase.

When the first snow hides the piles of brick, the tangled wires, the ruts made by the heavily loaded trucks, the students follow their foot paths to the chapel where the speakers give their best, for there is now the possibility of being asked to come again.

And when the spring begins to draw the frozen snow into the earth, the earth becomes a syrup of mud that follows every student into every campus building to find its way into a thousand cracks. Little ridges of moist soil are caked against a hundred campus doors.

The buildings rise, raw, unfinished, beautiful—magnets that draw the watcher to them to touch him with their earth.
Grass comes later when the buildings and broken earth are older, more modest. But now the red earth, the brick—they are enough.

The students walk quickly about the campus, bringing their feet down hard against the ground as though each step were driving deep roots deeper still. Their voices are loud so that they will be heard above the rumble of the trucks and the sounding of bells. Ten voices, one hundred voices, a whole future of voices are speaking.

Today I saw the blueprints—tomorrow there will be the hand-shaking and the dredging out of the foundation. The dream was always there. The most important part, the spirit, was always there—and now it becomes tangible.

The construction of the whole man involves both the action upon and the action by. Man is created in part by those forces which have acted upon him; but if he is to be truly man, he must conceptualize his life experience to discover its sense, its meaning. And when he does, he must become the actor, the causer. The patterns of his consciousness determine the substance of his action, and the verity of his abstractions bring him to an enveloping cause which determines the goals of his actions.

"Man is born to live, not to prepare for life." (Pasternak) By probing the human occurrence to uncover solidity, by striving and suffering to find strength, by interacting to discover malleability, man tests and selects the girders and beams which will constitute the framework upon which he will build a purposeful, structured life.

Charles W. Carter, M.A. Professor of Philosophy and Religion and Chairman of the Division of Philosophy and Religion.

Fred H. Luthy, M.A. Assistant Professor of Religion.

Dale E. Heath, Ph.D. Assistant Professor of Greek and Christian Education

Charles Wilson, Ph.D., Professor of Religion and Philosophy.

The whole-becoming man absorbs the humanity of the past, assimilates it, and begins the synthesis of the unique fabric that he must use in his self-construction. The texture of the fabric is softened and refined by the knowledge of the minds of men of all times. It is colored by the sensitivity of poetic souls whose preserved expressions allow continuing experience of those beauties and truths which they poured into the vessels of language.

Hazel E. Butz, Ph.D. Professor of English and Chairman of the Division of Language and Literature.

Charles M. Davis, M.A. Associate Professor of English.

Hilda R. Studebaker, M.A. Assistant Professor of English.

Herbert G. Lee, M.A. Professor of English and Literature.

Frances W. Ewbank, Ph.D. Professor of English.

Evelyn G. Van Til, M.S. Assistant Professor of English.

Rosalie Gleim, M.A. Assistant Professor of English.

George Fenstermacher, M.A., Assistant Professor of German and English.

The sensitivity necessary to adequate perception of the meanings of the word symbols that house the mind and soul of the past is awakened by discussion, by disciplined study, and by an inter-human discourse that exceeds the limits of man's ability to symbolize or express.

Julius J. Valberg, Dr. J. U., Associate Professor of Modern Languages and History.

Richard L. Steiner, M.A., Assistant Professor of French and Religion.

John B. Jantzen, M.A.Ed., Assistant Professor of French.

Ofelia A. Burton, M.A., Assistant Professor of Spanish.

SPANISH CLUB, L-R: Rich Cummins, Marilyn McQueen, John Daly.

The vessels of language take on many shapes and tempers which reflect the personalities of the cultures which create them. Reflexively, those vessels tend to shape the attitudes and to determine the perspectives of their creators. Not all thoughts can be thought in any one language. Hence, the building of the whole man includes the exploration of different systems of verbalizing the perception of reality

THE TROJAN PLAYERS, L-R: Jeanine Terhune, Jack Rozelle, Jean Rupp, Sonja Strahm, Mrs. Greathouse, Joan Templin, Barbara Durnbaugh, Cliff Robertson.

But the worth and beauty of language is not in its composition, but rather in its expression. It is an arched door through which the whole-becoming man may step into the sanctuaries of the thoughts and feelings of other men. Inadequate expression closes the holy portals, and improper expression violates the sanctuary.

Joan Templin and Cliff Robertson in "The Chalk Garden."

Jerry Higgins, M.A., Assistant Professor of Speech and Drama.

Edys M. Greathouse, M.A.Ed., Professor of Speech and Dramatics.

The Echo

If a community is to provide an atmosphere conducive to the development of the whole man, it must give opportunity for statement, rebuttal, and compromise. Men without voices generally tend to be silent. The Echo is used as an avenue of expression, information, and controversy within the community which it serves.

The framework of the development of complete humanity takes on its clothing in many ways; but the workmen who mold its contours and polish its surfaces possess the power to aid or hinder construction. Theirs is the responsibility of pounding, of tensing and releasing, of honing, of filling, and of caressing the minds of those who are becoming.

George S. Haines, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education

The responsibility of bending the mass of twigs is one that warrants extensive preparation. The Taylor teacher education program maintains exacting standards for those who go forth to "cultivate the furrows of the mind." (Hinkle)

Donald H. Porter, Ph.D., Professor of Mathematics and Physics and Chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences.

William A. Ewbank, M.A.,
Instructor in Mathematics.

One has said that mathematics is the language in which God has written the universe. Man's insatiable curiosity has led him to attempt to master that language and make it his servant in the process of actualizing the substance of his dreams.

Dale E. Wenger, M.A.,
Assistant Professor of Mathematics.

Elmer N. Nussbaum, Ph.D., Professor of Physics and Director of Research and Special Training.

Robert C. Wolfe, M.A., Assistant Professor of Chemistry and Physics.

Using the language of mathematics and the methods of science, the scientist continues the conquest of nature, making it man's tool rather than his master. The faces of the world's societies are being transformed by his divinations. But the servant has become ambivalent in the hands of ambivalent men; so the scientific Brahma now is faced with the responsibility of creating both Vishnu and Sive, preserver and destroyer.

Gordon M. Krueger, A.M., Professor of Chemistry.

Harold A. Snyder, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Biology.

The translucent veil that falls between inanimate and animate continues to engage the attention of life science. From the sky above, the sea around, and the earth under foot come the substances through which is constructed and perpetuated the eternal phantom, Life.

While he has progressively mastered the physical universe, man continues to have difficulty mastering himself. The increase in interdependence seemingly has not been paralleled by greater depth of interrelatedness. He still considers his guns to be more reliable than his peace treaties. An inner contradiction seems to lead man to destroy as much as he constructs.

Grace D. Olson, A.M., Professor of History and Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences.

"Human history becomes more and more a race between education and catastrophe." (H. G. Wells) Man's study of man, past and present, is an attempt to prepare him for wholesome living on both aggregate and individual levels.

Meredith C. Haines, M.A., Associate Professor of Social Science and Religion.

Darvin L. Miller, B.D., Assistant Professor of Psychology.

Frank H. Roye, Th.D., Associate Professor of Sociology.

William M. Loewen, M.A., Assistant Professor of Sociology.

The whole-becoming individual realizes that he is complex, as is every person complex, and that in order to live in moral freedom, he must understand himself, his fellows, and society's influence on the individual. If he does gain such understanding, he can go beyond mere reaction to a higher value, action.

CENTRAL SCIENTIFIC COMPANY

The splendor of being conscious of directed movement, of responding physically to the dictates of the mind, of feeling warmth and cold, of running so fast that the wind changes directions, and of experiencing the perpetual freshness of well-being is a high privilege of man, who alone can perceive the relatedness, the interdependence and the interaction of body, mind, and spirit. The magnificence of physical man demands cultivation or it becomes a tyrannical decadence. This cultivation is facilitated at Taylor by a comprehensive program of physical education, including intramural and inter-collegiate athletics.

The artistic soul feels the rhythm of nature. Through the deepness of this identification with life, the creator experiences a glimpse of truth and beauty. The artist's insight is then woven into the fabric of expression and given to all men. The result is that all who wish may also become aware of, and feel more deeply, the meaning of existence.

Spiritual

THE TRUTH WHICH SETS US FREE

Help us Father to rebel! Not against, but for you.
May we not sink under the weight of glittering possessions,
But rather, lift high our young minds in the painful
Search for truth—truth which will set us free from Self-imposed limitations and prejudices—truth
Which can come only from You.

Dr. David Seamonds brings an evening message during Fall Spiritual Emphasis Week.

Spiritual Emphasis — Self Evaluation; Growth

Dr. William Cannon discusses "God is Dead" movement during Spring Spiritual Emphasis Week.

Wandering Wheels, Coach Davenport's three week camping group with the theme "Teaching Christ Through Bikes", pauses to present a program in front of Maytag Gymnasium following a 1004 mile bike trip.

Dr. Myron Augsburger, President of Eastern Mennonite College, brings to the Taylor student body the annual Reade Memorial Lecture Series.

Personal Evangelism

Intimate contact precipitates response if the persons involved accept each other as individuals, worthy of respect. The implanting of an idea from one mind to another in this intimate relationship should come only from a sincere desire to share. In sharing, the attitudes of a person are expressed deeply enough for his character to be realized by the receivers. Only when a personality is exchanged, rather than a facade of one, can the total impact of an idea be experienced.

The gift of a Christian is giving; he shares the Word with others. He is careful to establish intimate contact with people in order for them to receive the total impact of Christ.

Everyone must register—and then comes the financial straight-jacket; it seems everyone must also pay the bill. At least it gives you a chance to meet someone new.

Class Day means the same to all students; the chance to gain points for your class. Girls from each class are taking part in a volley-ball game in an attempt to chalk up 100 points.

One of the first things the Taylor Freshman learns to tolerate is the "beanie". The beanie must be worn to all events with the exception of church. Should Freshmen win the tug-of-war from the upperclassmen, the beanie goes. If they lose, one more week.

Another facet which the new student rapidly becomes acquainted with is the P.O. Morning and evening trips will soon become "old hat."

New students have an opportunity to display their talents at the Talent Festival at the first of the year.

"Have a car on campus?"
 "Is it registered?" Do you live on campus?" "I'm sorry but this class is closed."

This is just the beginning of a whole year at T.U.

Bruce Gee and Bary Comstock demonstrate their abilities in the classroom

Gerret Crow and a companion know that Nature also has much to say to the one who is willing to listen.

Banquets play their own particular role in the social life of the average Taylor student. There are five major events such as this. They are the Thanksgiving Dinner, the Christmas Banquet, Valentine Banquet, The Spring Buffet and for the upperclassmen, the Junior-Senior Banquet.

“Soir Celeste”

An annual project of the Gamma Delts is the Valentine Banquet. For the occasion, the girl invites the boy to attend the festivities as her escort.

Entertainment for the banquet this year was provided by the Ed Kilbourne Trio from Asbury College.

Karen Riehle and her escort enjoy their evening meal and the entertainment which follows.

Gamma Delts

Wedding Band

The organization for the wives of married students is Wedding Band. Officers of the organization are; Seated: Mrs. Ed DeVries, Mary Kay Miller, Nancy Jentes, Karen Osborn. Standing are Mrs. Frank Roye and Deanna Francis.

Bob Duell and Jane Darling relax on Wisconsin steps before once again resuming their school tasks.

Bike -a- Thon Shows Endurance

Gary Bowman and Dr. Snyder display the trophy won by the Senior class.

The Bike-a-thon, an annual event at Taylor, pits class against class in a 100-lap endurance race on bicycles. The outcome of the race also counts heavily in the final class standings.

Dave Baugh assists Steve Bowman and Rod Taylor as they attempt to change riders.

Susie Rosberg and John Roush enjoy their after dinner entertainment.

Perhaps the greatest climax to a four year career—aside from the diploma—is the Junior-Senior Banquet. The affair is sponsored by the Juniors and honors the Seniors

Providing the entertainment for the evening was Norm Nelson, a renowned singer.

Trojans Capture Second Place in H.C.C.

TOUCHDOWN! A familiar sight to T.U. fans in 1965 was Bob Harms scoring a touchdown as he does here against Earlham.

SCHEDULE

Butler	41	Taylor	6
Taylor	7	Manchester	7
Anderson	19	Taylor	13
Earlham	19	Taylor	12
Taylor	32	Indiana Central	13
Taylor	20	Hanover	6

Defiance	3	Taylor	0
Northwood	31	Taylor	7

3 wins 5 losses 1 tie.

The 1965 Trojan football season proved to be one of frustration, yet of hope. Although the season record read 3-5-1 it must be noted that 3 of these defeats came by the margin of one or less touchdown. Finishing second in the Hoosier College Conference, the Trojans placed six players on the All-Conference squad: Gary Jones, Ken Walker, Mike Mancini, Bob Wynkoop, Bob Harms and Bob Lovell. The unusually large number of rookies who gained valuable game experience point to a bright future for Taylor University on the gridiron.

Injuries Prove to Be Old Nemesis

Planning the attack for the upcoming game is the capable coaching staff. Kneeling: Bob Davenport (head coach), and Sam Delcamp. Standing: Ben Mosher and Ron VanDamm.

Leading the team in '65 were co-captains Gary Jones and Al Lang.

Although not impressive on paper, the 1965 football season had many bright spots. There were some tremendous individual efforts, as evidenced by the larger number of All-Conference selections. Although the rookies came through their test under fire very well, such seniors as Gary Jones, Bill Kelley, Al Lang, Steve Bowman, Ken Walker, Dave Baugh, John Roush, and Dave Johnson will be terribly missed. Coach Bob Davenport and his staff seem to be the "horses" for a highly successful up-coming season.

Promising Rookies Point to a Bright Future

As Jim Jerele retreats to pass, the line braces to meet the attacking defense as the receivers speed downfield.

Spotting a small hole, Bob Harms picks up yardage the hard way—"bulling" through the middle of the line.

On the eighteenth of September, the Trojans traveled to the Butler Bowl in Indianapolis to face the always-powerful Butler Bulldogs in a non-conference skirmish. The over-all strength of the Bulldogs proved to be too much for the Trojans on this hot afternoon as Taylor went down to a 41-6 defeat. The highlight of the game for the Trojans was a 51 yard touchdown run by freshman quarterback Bruce Maughmauw. It was in this game that Taylor lost the services of star quarterback and co-captain Al Lang, who was forced to sit out the season with a knee injury. Al's fine passing and fancy running could have made the difference in quite a few games.

The following Saturday, the Trojans opened their H.C.C. season with Manchester College on which Taylor had to be satisfied with a 7-7 tie. Leading the Trojans in this game was Bob Harms, who scored Taylor's only touchdown as well as picking up substantial yardage.

With a 19-13 defeat at the hands of the Anderson Ravens on October 2, Taylor let the Hoosier College Conference Championship slip from their grasp. This tight contest was not decided until the final 55 seconds in which the Ravens were able to push over a third touchdown.

In another close contest with non-conference foe Earlham, the Trojans again failed to halt a last-minute drive. As a result the Trojans fell to the Quakers by a 19-12 score.

Finally, before a large homecoming crowd the Trojans gained their first victory of the season by trouncing the Greyhounds of Indiana Central 32-13. Leading 12-0 at halftime, The Trojans fell behind 13-12 in the third before Bob Harms scored three quick touchdowns to go along with one other earlier in the game.

With plenty of protection quarterback Jim Jerele fires a pass into the flat to Bill Kelley.

Twisting away from one tackler, Bill Kelley prepares to break away into the open.

Larry DeBruyn looks for some running room after gathering in a pass as Pete Carlson prepares to lend interference.

The next two games saw the Trojans continue their winning ways. In the driving rain the Trojans paced by the defensive line play and running of Bill Kelley, upended Hanover 20-6. Then the next week, in the final defensive effort of the season, the Trojans blanked the Franklin Grizzlies 14-9.

The Trojans continued their air-tight defense the next week against Defiance. However, the offense could not get a sustained drive going; and Taylor lost 3-0 on a 36-yard field goal.

The Jerele to Carlson combination clicks on a short jump pass over the middle.

Ben Lester's ailments are remedied at half time under the watchful care of Dr. Robert Coughenour, the team physician.

Behind the strong blocking of Pete Carlson, Dave Baugh, Gary Jones and Ben Lester, a wide hole is opened for Bill Kelley.

On the last Saturday of the season the Trojans traveled to freezing Midland, Michigan, to play a strong Northwood Institute squad. Falling behind in the first quarter, the Trojans were not able to catch up and, although the defense tightened in the second half, Northwood prevailed at the end 31-7.

Cross County Team 10th in Nationals

The 1965 campaign proved to be one of the most successful in the history of Taylor University Cross Country teams. Facing tremendous opposition, the Trojans were able, under the leadership of Coach George Glass, to come through the regular season in fine style, with only one defeat in dual meet competition marring their record. However, at the time of the conference track meet, the team was hit with a rash of injuries, which resulted in the Trojans having to settle for third place in the conference.

The Trojans fought back the following week to capture first place at the Little State meet and earning the right to compete in the NAIA National Finals in Omaha. Again the Trojans met a monumental challenge and finished 10th out of 40 of the finest small college teams in the nation.

Jack Baumgardner strides across the finish line far ahead of the field.

Taking a turn in the course, Phil Captain strains for the last sprint to the finish line.

The future remains bright for the Taylor Cross Country team as 6 of the team members who competed in Omaha will be returning, including Phil Captain, who finished 22nd in a field of 180 at the National finals. However, it will be hard to replace such fierce competition as Jerry Hackney and Barry Comstock. Their presence will be sorely missed next year.

Undefeated Tennis Team Captures H.C.C. Championship

Prior to a meet the team huddles around Coach Wenger for some last minute instructions.

1965 proved to be undoubtedly the finest year the Taylor tennis team has ever had. Not only did the team capture the Hoosier College Conference Championship, but the team went undefeated 35-0 in match play in doing so. Over all, the team went undefeated in meet play and enjoyed a 49-4 record in matches.

With only one senior, Captain Terry Porter, on the team, the prospects for the future appear very bright. Among those to return will be all-conference selectee Paul Rork, the undefeated doubles team of Bruce Gee and Dan Keller, Arnie Grover, Dave Dean, and a group of capable reserve players.

“T” Club

Wrestling

Tom Linder maneuvers into position in order to get a pinning combination on his opponent.

Under the tutelage of new coach Ron VanDam, a relatively inexperienced Trojan wrestling team posted a respectable 4-3 record in dual meets and gained third place in the Conference meet.

Gaining top honors for Taylor in the Conference meet were Tom Linder (heavy-weight), and Gene Keller (137 lbs.), who both won their weight classes. Also, the Trojans made a very impressive showing in the Little State meet as Keller and Ben Lester (176 lbs.) won their classes.

Gene Keller receives one point from the referee for successfully executing a reversal.

Varsity Basketball

Taylor's Trojans once again found the winning way as they rolled to a very successful 15-9 season. Behind the sharp shooting eye of guard Ron Bocken, Taylor won both the Taylor Tourney and the Marshall Optimist Tourney and finished second in the Richmond Tourney. Prospects for the next year are bright though the loss of seniors Ron Bocken, Larry Harvey and Dan Wilson will be felt.

Cliff Cox battles for the tip at a jump ball as Larry Hervey and Dan Wilson move into position.

Darrell Mooney takes advantage of his height to stretch over an opponent for a rebound.

Ron Bocken drives in for two points as Dan Wilson moves in to lend help.

The action gets a little rough under the boards as Dick Rohrer and Cliff Cox go up for a rebound.

Trojans Finish Third in H.C.C.

Coaches Jack King and Tony Ladd survey the action on the field.

The 1965 edition of the Trojan baseball team proved to be one which should come back after repeated setbacks. The Trojans suffered the misfortune of losing their first 6 games, including the first five on the southern trip. However, the team came back to post a 9-13 record plus a tie with Goshen College.

In the Hoosier College Conference the Trojans finished in third place with a 5-5 record. Taylor had the distinction of being the only team in the Conference to defeat the Anderson Ravens, the Conference Champs. As a result of an outbreak of injuries, many rookies were able to pick up valuable game experience. These players and such All-conference performers as Paul Wamsley and Mike Mancini provide a strong nucleus for next year.

Trojans Capture H.C.C. Crown Second Consecutive Year

For the second year in a row depth proved to be the winning key for the Taylor thin-clads as the Trojans won their second consecutive Hoosier College Conference Championship. Although they were able to win only one first at the conference meet (Gary Jones in the shot put), the Trojans counterbalanced it with 13 second or third place finishes to win the conference championship by a 12-point spread.

Facing such tough competition as Furman, Eastern Kentucky, and Morehead State on the southern trip seemed to prepare the Trojans for the challenges which arose during the season. Winning 8 of 10 dual meets, the Trojans saw many school records fall such as Bob Ayton in the pole vault (13' 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ "'), the mile relay (3825.5), Dave Anderson in the 2 mile (9:55), Paul Frykholm in the broad jump (22'6 $\frac{1}{2}$ "') and the triple jump (44'4"'), and John Roush in the discus (139'7"').

Bill Donnelly and Paul Warner make a perfect exchange to begin the last leg of the mile relay.

Walt Harvey shows the form he used in taking second place in the high jump at the conference meet.

A determined Dave Andersen eyes the finish line as he competes in his specialty—the high hurdles.

John Roush strains to exert every bit of strength as he prepares to throw the javelin.

Denny Blocher builds up momentum as he starts down the lane toward the pole vault pit.

Al Lang pulls into the lead in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles as Bill Parman picks up ground in the inside lane.

Though hobbled by injuries, Paul Frykholm still gives everything he has in the hop, step and jump.

One of the picture moments in track is the exchange in the relay, as it is executed here by Rich Graffis and Roger Hinkle.

Gary Jones shows the form which won him the shot put event in the conference meet.
